

Bluesky launches bluetooth hands-free for cars

Cavale:

If hands-free phones were what you were looking for Bluesky Bluetooth hands-free car kit 1001 A is definitely going to satisfy your needs. The gadget is easy to use and needs no installation and looks sleek and stylish. The device also displays caller ID, has a built in rear speaker, and you can use the earpiece for private conversation. Since it is wireless you do not need to burden your car with unnecessary accessories and maintain the elegant interiors. It works on Li-ion battery and has a standby time of more than 168 hours. This is one hands-free device, which you wouldn't want to miss.

Written by cavale on July 22nd, 2008 with no comments.

Read more articles on Bluesky and Cars and Technology and bluetooth and cellphones and hands free.